THANK YOU!

Thank you to everyone at Kenan-Flagler Cares! Earlier this month, executive director Christian Adams (center), accepted a check from the community service arm of UNC's Business School. Compass Center is collaborating with the school to strengthen impact in fundraising, advocacy, and leadership development.

Community Rallies for Domestic Violence Awareness Month

Heartfelt thanks to everyone who rallied around Compass Center in support of Domestic Violence Awareness Month including: 401 Main, Brandwein's Bagels, Vimala's Curryblossom Cafe, and The Purple Bowl.

Thanks also to everyone who engaged in courageous conversations around healthy relationships including Delta Sigma Theta sorority, The Meantime Coffee Co., The Gathering Place, Imbibe, Zog's Art Bar & Pool Hall, Linda's Bar and Grill, Goodfellows, Gizmo Brew Works, Blue Horn Lounge, Epilogue Books Chocolate Brews, The Northside District, Lanza's Cafe, Spotted Dog, The Cave, Local 506, and The Dead Mule Club.

Finally, a big shout out to our community partners who showed up for the Self-Care Social.

We are better together and we appreciate you!

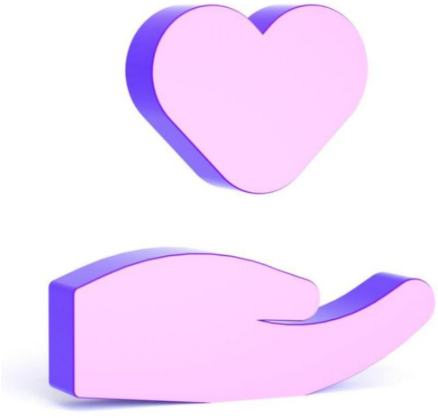
Gov. Cooper Proclaims October 2022 Domestic Violence Awareness Month

Click to view proclamation.

A survivor arrived at Compass Center seeking safety and shelter from domestic violence. The advocate learned that they had no family or friends to stay with, and no nearby shelters had space. Working together, they determined that the best plan was an overnight hotel stay locally, and a bus ride in the morning to a town several hours away.



Support our $50,000 Wellness Campaign

Empowering conversations like the one above are a lifeline for people experiencing abuse, and they take place every day at Compass Center.

Support from individual donors and sponsors helps individuals and families break the cycle of domestic violence and achieve self-sufficiency. Your gifts enable us to serve more than 6,500 individuals each year. We couldn't do it without you! Thank you.

Compass Center for Women and Families is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, Tax ID#56-1271474, and all donations are tax-deductible to the fullest extent of the law.
